

20/3/23

Brainstorm 5 ideas for a website

Teach people about the life of William Shakespeare

Teach people about the dangers of low mental health*

Educate people on how to study for better marks

The effect of fitness on mental health

How to cope with stress

Website is aimed at children and adults who may already have low mental health or are currently healthy.

People will understand the importance of keeping good mental health and what the dangers are if you have a bad mental state.

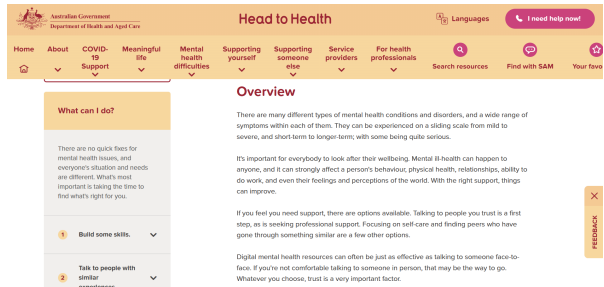

People will want this as it helps educate them on maintaining a good mental health and why they should, as well as tips to get a better one.

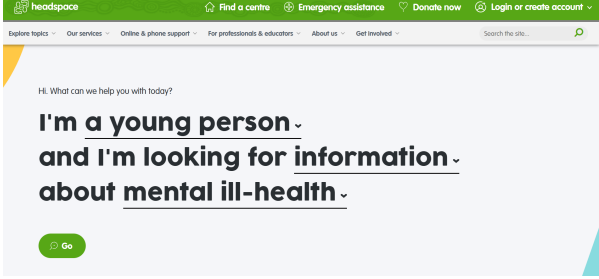

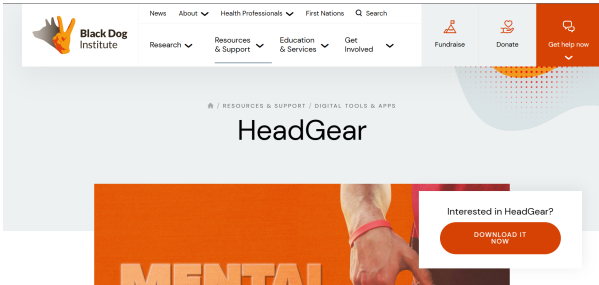

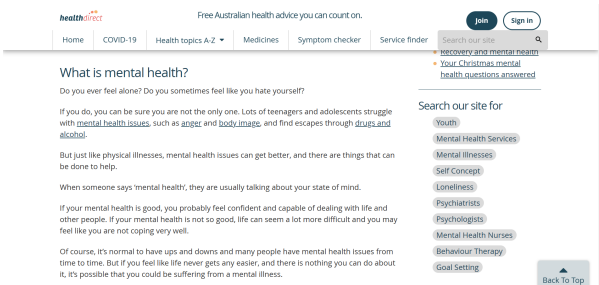

This will change people as it can help them make themselves better or help someone else in need.

I intend to make a website that informs and educates all kinds of people on the effects and dangers of bad mental health. My website will help people understand why it is important to maintain a good mental health. This would be important to people as people are becoming more and more stressed, leading to a lower mental health that could lead to severe outcomes.

My website will include information on what a bad mental health looks like, tips on how to improve your mental health, tips on how to support someone with a bad mental health, and the outcomes and consequences of a bad mental health for prolonged periods of time. I would like my website to include aspects to enable users to access it on both mobile and desktop devices as well as containing image carousels and other parts to enhance accessibility.

From visiting my website users will gain large amounts of knowledge on the dangers of mental health and why maintaining a good one is key to a healthy life. People will also find out on how to support themselves and others going through hard times by learning who to talk to, how to make yourself happier and how to increase your own mental health.

 Learn about mental health conditions and disorders Head to Health	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Nice colour scheme, text feels nice to read, good layout, do not like the large header bar at the top2. Buttons and dropdowns feel smooth, no button to close top header bar3. What a good colour scheme looks like and how I should plan the layout
--	---

 headspace National Youth Mental Health Foundation	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Buttons are rounded, good layout Buttons changed when hovered over How I should design any buttons on my website
 HeadGear - Black Dog Institute	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Good accordion design, nice orange colour Smooth dropdowns on header, buttons change colour when hovered How I should design an accordion
 Teenage mental health - treatments and causes healthdirect	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Simple colour are nice, lots of bland information that is not good to look at, no images or other info Buttons and links change colour when hovered, header dropdown colour doesn't fit with website How I should layout my website and what text may work well

WHAT ARE YOU LOOKING FOR TODAY?

Connection and support services

Information, factsheets
and guides

Information
for family,
friends,
workmates

We're people like you

Chat is not available

SANE Australia

1. No information is cut off, layout looks nice and clean
2. Some of the images are buttons
3. How big I could make any buttons, how I should form my mobile layout

Layout Wireframe:

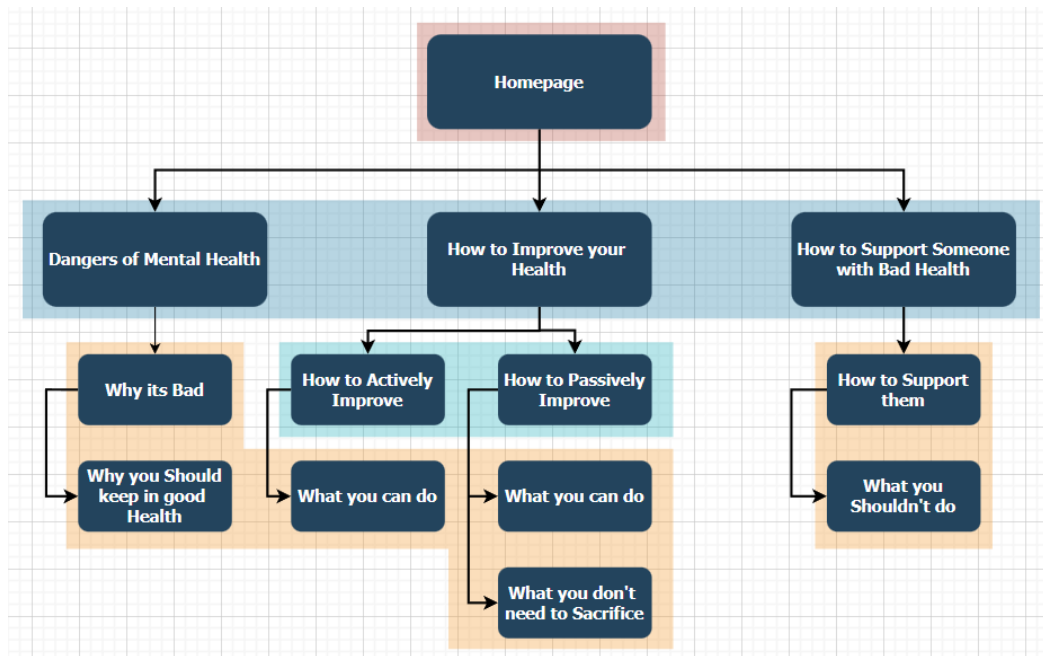

Logo:

Sitemap:

UX Personas:

As a teenager looking for ways to improve my own mental health. I want a way to passively improve my mental health within a reasonable amount of time without going out of my way too much. So that I can become a better person and have a healthier mindset which in turn will improve my happiness and help me feel better about myself.

As a parent seeking assistance about helping my child with bad mental health. I want to be able to support her when she needs and aid her in improving herself to become what she wants to be. So that she can feel better about herself and I can fulfil my duties as a parent to support my child.

UX Navigation
1st person

2nd person

